Roger G. Noll to Receive Antitrust Achievement Award
On June 3, Roger G. Noll will be presented ABA-Alfred E. Kahn Award for Antitrust Achievement. The award will be presented at the ABA’s 2012 Antitrust Section Meeting in Washington, D.C., June 3-6.

Noll is a professor of economics at Stanford University and a Senior Fellow at the Hoover Institution, which directs the Program on Industrial Organization. His prolific and prolifically popular writing has been published in a long line of very diverse sources. Noll is a member of the Board of Advisors of the ABA’s Antitrust Section, and has been involved with the publication of many of that section’s books, articles, and newsletters.

Roger G. Noll is the author or co-author of 13 books and more than 100 articles and reviews. His primary research has been on industrial policy, antitrust, and economic history. His work has been influential in advancing development, and advanced development, and the economic approach to public law. (antitrust, the judiciary, and the economics of sports and entertainment.

Noll is the 14th recipient of the award. Past honorees are John Klein, Robert Pitofsky, EM. Andrews, FR. Clark, KL. Coan, and Thomas W. Powell.

About the American Antitrust Institute (AAI), the AAI is an entrepreneurial program of the nation’s preeminent antitrust association. The AAI seeks to participate in the modern antitrust policy debate in the United States and abroad. It aims to be a source of expertise and advice on antitrust policy and law for the nation’s leading officials.

Founded in 1998, the AAI’s work includes research on antitrust, competition, public policy, and antitrust, and includes reviewing and evaluating the work of others.

About the American Antitrust Institute (AAI), the AAI is an entrepreneurial program of the nation’s preeminent antitrust association. The AAI seeks to participate in the modern antitrust policy debate in the United States and abroad. It aims to be a source of expertise and advice on antitrust policy and law for the nation’s leading officials.

Founded in 1998, the AAI’s work includes research on antitrust, competition, public policy, and antitrust, and includes reviewing and evaluating the work of others.

About the American Antitrust Institute (AAI), the AAI is an entrepreneurial program of the nation’s preeminent antitrust association. The AAI seeks to participate in the modern antitrust policy debate in the United States and abroad. It aims to be a source of expertise and advice on antitrust policy and law for the nation’s leading officials.

Founded in 1998, the AAI’s work includes research on antitrust, competition, public policy, and antitrust, and includes reviewing and evaluating the work of others.

About the American Antitrust Institute (AAI), the AAI is an entrepreneurial program of the nation’s preeminent antitrust association. The AAI seeks to participate in the modern antitrust policy debate in the United States and abroad. It aims to be a source of expertise and advice on antitrust policy and law for the nation’s leading officials.

Founded in 1998, the AAI’s work includes research on antitrust, competition, public policy, and antitrust, and includes reviewing and evaluating the work of others.

About the American Antitrust Institute (AAI), the AAI is an entrepreneurial program of the nation’s preeminent antitrust association. The AAI seeks to participate in the modern antitrust policy debate in the United States and abroad. It aims to be a source of expertise and advice on antitrust policy and law for the nation’s leading officials.

Founded in 1998, the AAI’s work includes research on antitrust, competition, public policy, and antitrust, and includes reviewing and evaluating the work of others.