

FUTURE OF THE INTERNET

APRIL 30, 2010

The John A. and Cynthia Fry Gunn Building
Koret-Taube Conference Center
366 Galvez Street, Stanford University

AGENDA

- 9:30 – 10:00 Breakfast
- 10:00 – 10:05 Welcome
Ward Hanson, Policy Forum Director
- 10:05 – 10:20 The Internet and the Economy
Julius Genachowski, Chairman of the FCC, (from the FCC in Washington)
- 10:20 – 11:30 Economics and Internet Innovations
Hal Varian, Chief Economist, Google, “Computer-mediated transactions”
David Reiley, Research Scientist, Yahoo!, “Efficient Advertising”
Jonathan Levin, Stanford, “The Future of Health Information Technology”
- 11:30 – 12:15 Broadband Value and Access
Greg Rosston, SIEPR, “The Value of Broadband”
Derek Slater, Senior Policy Analyst, Google, “Good Data Makes Good Policy: Two Experiments for the Future of Broadband”
- 12:15 – 1:15 Lunch
The Demo Hour – Stanford startups and other cool Net products....
- 1:15 – 1:55 The National Broadband Plan
Blair Levin, Executive Director of the Omnibus Broadband Initiative, FCC
“The Fourth Challenge”
- 1:55 – 2:25 The Internet Changing Business
Chris Anderson, Author (“The Long Tail” and “Free”) and Chief Editor Wired Magazine
“Atoms are the New Bits”
- 2:25 – 3:10 Law and Internet Regulation
Pamela Samuelson, U.C. Berkeley, “Intellectual Property: Obstacle or Innovation Enabler on the Internet?”
Barbara van Schewick, Stanford, “Access and Openness”
- 3:10 – 3:50 Using The Social Web
Byron Reeves, Stanford, “Using Games and Virtual Worlds to Change the Way People Work and Businesses Compete”
Owen Van Natta, Former CEO MySpace.com
- 3:50 – 4:00 Summing Up
Ward Hanson, Policy Forum Director
- 4:00 – 4:45 Reception to follow See our website at <http://policyforum.group.stanford.edu>